SAMLIG. WILDER,

Minister of the Interior EXIT THE " KALAKAUA." - This bark, engaged in the freighting trade between Honolulu and San Francisco, after having been in durance vile for three or four months under a charge of smuggling opium, sailed away on the up trip last Thursday, in charge of Capt. Jenks,- (not him of the "horse marines" —with all the odor of opium still about her. She goes off under a bond of $2,500 to return and answer, pending the return of one of the judges of the Supreme Court, now enjoying his otium cum dignitate somewhere in the state of New York. It will be remembered, this is the second time that the bark in question has been before the Courts of the country, for the same offense. CRIMINAL CARELESSNESS - An employee in the store of Mr. A. W. Bush, the grocer, on Fort Street, and known by the distinctive appellation of Smith, showed the amount of brains he possessed by tying a saddle horse that he had been using to an empty barrel which stood on the sidewalk near the front of the establishment of his employer. Through some movement of the horse, the burrel upset and rolling under that animal's feet, frightened him, and he dashed up through Fort Street, at a breakneck pace. Honolulu on was the first vehicle encountered, and the shock disabled it, while the driver made a flying leap for the sidewalk. The crazed horse with the barrel still at his heels passed so close to the carriage of Chief Justice Harris, as to frighten the horses attached and they also started on a run. The short turn made by them in going around the corner of Fort and Hotel streets upset the carriage. The horse did not stop but continued to drag the upset carriage on its side. Luckily assistance was given by some bystanders, who after stopping the horses extricated the occupant of the carriage, Chief Justice Harris, from his dangerous position. The horse with the barrel accompanying him kept along Fort Street, but caused no further damage. The fact that no ladies or children were burt, or that no further damage occured does not relieve the odium attached to so careless, negligent, and brainless an action as tying a horse to an empty barrel on one of the principal streets in the city. The action merits a severe punishment. The affair to which we have here briefly referred occurred motive power, for reasons obvious in making the trip.

There seems to be dissention in the camp, in reference to the locality of the Musical Hall Building. It is cer-tain that if built central it will meet the wishes of a large majority of the public. It is said by some far see-ing people that in a few years (say 25) that King Street above the Government House will be the chief centre of on Thursday last. HOMICIDE AT KAUAL .- As one of the probable re ults of the orgies connected with the recent celethe city, so far so good; probably by that time we shall have street cars and omnibuses to drop us at the so called bration of the Chinese new years holiday, we have record a tragic occurrence at Kauai, an account Academy of Music. Feb. 9, at Kapaa, a man named John Harris, being intoxicated, went to the house of a fellow-country-England, &c. I have planned and managed the building of places of amusement and always with a view to elenan, named Thomas Williams, for the avowed of places of amusement and always with a view to elegance, comfort, ventilation and good entrances and exilts (most essential). Since my departure from these Islands, in April 1859, nearly 21 years, I have devoted myself to this special art, visited the interior, stage and mechanism of the Paris Grand Opera House and Covent Garden Theatre London and others too numerous to mention; upon my return last November, I was told I had just returned in the nick of time (in fact I might have dropped from the clouds) as they were going to erect a building suitable for amusement purposes, ac cordinals I was invited to give my idea in the shame of a ourpose of having a fight. In the struggle, Wil-lams got the worst of it. They were separated by Ben Tanvirs and George Mendon, who managed to get Harris into the house and quiet him down. At about half past II o'clock that night Harris started to go to his own lodging, Ben Tanvirs shutting the door after him. Hardly had the door en shot when Tanvirs says be heard the cry of cordingly I was invited to give my idea in the shape of a plan which I hope may prove satisfactory) I will say for one as a shareholder, that I would like to see the build-Murder! murder! THE THEATRE.—The much talked of, and long rehearsed, "Pinafore," was produced at the Theatre, for the first time in this country, and by the Gayton Combination Company, on the evening of last Saturday, the 14th inst., to a crowded house and in the presence of His Majesty and Suite. The play of "Pinafore" is of the opera bouffe style, and was written as a satire on the manner in which positions and promotions were obtained, at one time, in the English Navy. Pinafore has had an unprecedented run in Eastern cities, and many of the expressions found in the score had become popularized to that extent as to become monotonous. The rendition by the Gayton Combination, is pleasing, as a novelty, but as a representation of the spirit in which the play was written, is very incomplete. The Admiral is made a buffoon, by a natural actor of that character, none of the official dignity consistent with the position being understood, or introduced. The make up of this personage is also outre, not alone in age, but also in the absence of the distinctive parapharnalia which adorns an Admiral. The Captain is too youthful, and lacks action. Josephine is in the hands of a good singer, but a poor actress. Butter-cup, as delineated by Miss Ingles, Is fair, the concep-tion being good, but the acting lacks life. Mr Bradley's voice stands him in good stead, as Dick Deadeye. Mr Morton as Ralph Rackstraw, bas an mportant part and performs it in a manner that shows study. The sisters, cousins and aunts perform their parts well, especially in the choruses. Little Harry, as Midshipmite, is a general favorite. The localization in the Admiral's song, composed by Mr. Frank Perkins, would be a feature if sung as written, the barrel bounding along at his side. A milk wag- at each performance. The musical portion of the play under direction of Mr. Berger is well rendered, and many of the airs are fast becoming popularized. Only a few more representations of the play will be given, so prospective visitors should not delay too long To-night Pinafore will again hold forth.

HONOLULU, Feb. 18, 1880. To the Editor of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser: Having occasion to pass over a portion of the Nuuanu road this morning, it was with no little surprise that I noticed on my return the statement of your contemporary in to-day's Gazetic that the road to the Pall particuorly, had been put in good order during the past year.

Surely the gentleman is a better judge of types than oads. Speaking of mud-canals, if a better specimen can be found in any civilized community than exists from the residence of Mr. J. S. Walker to the Ice Factory, its another should be yoted a string of mind medals and com-pelled to wear them. I would suggest if this half mile ng very closely to the health disease of the general public, is respectfully brout to the attention of the Board which is charged wil that duty. To the Editor of the Pacific Comm. cial Advertiser : DEAR SIR. I wish to state the following facts, brough your valuable paper. In many places throughout the Islands, it is a common custom to place the bodies of the dead in little wooden houses n the cemeteries; as if in defiance of the Supreme command, "Dust thou art, and unto dust thou shalt return." Some of these houses contain four or five putrefying bodies in badly made wooden coffins. The foul emanations, from these decomposing corpses are daily poisoning God's pure, life giving atmosphere, and filling it with germs of death. A lady told me this week, that she had occasion to attend a funeral at one of these " whited sepulchres " where the stanch was almost unbearable. Is this a subject too trivial for consideration? One of our ablest physicians tells me "that air is best for health which has no perceptible smell about it vice versa,' but I suppose he means theoretically. If we regard putrefaction in a sanitary or bygienic point of view, as the originator of disease, when favored by man's carelessness, such a subject deserves our attention Yours respectfully, PURE AIR.
